

Spout Fruit-bowl

UTIL

The Spout fruit-bowl rises from an observation of particular existing elements in slip-cast ceramic pieces such as handles and spouts. Such elements exist to add functionality to the object in matter. The Spout shuffles these same elements in search of alternative uses allied with a strong visual composition. By placing the pouring spout low in the fruit-bowl's base it allows to easily rinse fruit before presenting or serving it. This added functionality rests at your table beautifully and silently until it strikes your friends curiosity.
